the emblem was big business in early modern europe used extensively not only in printed books and broadsheets but also to decorate pottery metalware furniture glass and windows and numerous other domestic devotional and political objects at its most basic level simply a combination of symbolic visual image and texts an emblem is a hybrid composed of words and picture however as this book demonstrates understanding the precise and often multiple meaning intention and message emblems conveyed can prove a remarkably slippery process in this book peter daly draws upon many years research to reflect upon the recent upsurge in scholarly interest in and rediscovery of emblems following years of relative neglect beginning by considering some of the seldom asked but important questions that the study of emblems raises including the importance of the emblem the truth value of emblems and the transmission of knowledge through emblems the book then moves on to investigate more closely focussed aspects such as the role of mnemonics mottoes and visual rhetoric the volume concludes with a review of some perhaps inadequately considered issues such as the role of jesuits who had a role in the publication of about a quarter of all known emblem books and questions such as how these hybrid constructs were actually read and interpreted drawing upon a database containing records of 6 514 books of emblems and impresse this study suggests new ways for scholars to approach important questions that have not yet been satisfactorily broached in the standard works on emblems in memory distortion contributions from a multidisciplinary team of eminent scholars form the basis of an exploration of a range of phenomena including hypnosis confabulation source amnesia flashbulb memories and repression for many people who have encountered it macau makes a deep impression on the imagination as if the city were not entirely real or rather not of the real world macau often seems dreamlike as though it were sustained by the effort of some powerful imagination in this evocative essay on the cultural and social history of a unique and fragile city jonathan porter examines macau as an enduring but ever changing threshold between east and west founded by the portuguese in 1557 macau emerged as a vibrant commercial and cultural hub in the early seventeenth century the city then gradually evolved flourishing first as a eurasian community in the eighteenth century and then as an increasingly chinese city in the nineteenth century macau became a modern manufacturing center in the late twentieth century and is now destined for reversion to the people s republic of china in 1999 the city was the meeting ground for many cultures but central to this fascinating story is the encounter between an expansive seaborne portuguese empire and the introspective closed world of imperial china unlike the other great colonial port cities of asia macau did not provide natural access to the hinterland and this geographical and historical isolation has fostered a unique balance of cultural influences that survives to this day poised on the periphery of two worlds an isolated but global crossroads macau is a unique cultural and social melange that illuminates crucial issues of cross cultural exchange in world history establishing portugal and china as distinct cultural archetypes porter then examines the subsequent encounters of east and west in macau from the sixteenth to the twentieth century avoiding the traditional linear chronological approach porter instead looks at a series of images from the city s history and culture including its place in the geographical context of the south china coast the architecture of macau which reflects the memories of its historical passages the variety of people who crossed the threshold of macau the material culture of everyday life and the spiritual topography resulting from the encounters of popular religious movements in macau jonathan porter concludes his literary journey by reflecting on the character and meaning of the many cultural and social influences that have met and mingled in macau his words and photographs eloquently capture the essence of a place that seems too ephemeral to be real too captivating to be anything but an imaginary city much recent writing about asian societies and asian histories adopts a homogenising vision of humanity it views the definition of cultural difference as an orientalist project serving colonial or neo colonial purposes this unusual collection of essays written by leading specialists in a range of disciplines re appraises and expands the orientalism debate several authors examine the ways in which the asian other acts as a creative stimulus for the european artist composer and playwright the work of monet debussy and brecht for instance is explored to suggest a subtle and complex circulation of idea between the orient and the west other essays investigate the scholar s own encounter with the exotic in particular they ask to what extent western concepts and categories can be used in the analysis of asian societies and cultures among the concepts considered are space in chinese art landscape high art low art and opera in indonesia and tragedy the book concert music and subjectivity in japan furthermore the implications of orality and literacy are examined in the case of malay society like discredited orientalists the authors of this volume are in most cases based in the west in universities in europe united states and australia but their investigations are not grounded in confident assumptions about western power and civilisation recovering the orient probes the asian other at a time of conceptual uncertainty when foundational tenets of western civilisation have come under question in 1917 the beijing silk merchant wei enbo s vision of jesus sparked a religious revival characterized by healings exorcisms tongues speaking and most provocatively a call for a return to authentic christianity that challenged the western missionary establishment in china this revival gave rise to the true jesus church china s first major native denomination the church was one of the earliest chinese expressions of the twentieth century charismatic and pentecostal tradition which is now the dominant mode of twenty first century chinese christianity to understand the faith of millions of chinese christians today we must understand how this particular form of chinese community took root and flourished even throughout the wrenching changes and dislocations of the past century the church's history links together key themes in modern chinese social history such as longstanding cultural exchange between china and the west imperialism and globalization game changing advances in transport and communications technology and the relationship between religious movements and the state in the late qing circa 1850 1911 republican 1912 1949 and communist 1950 present day eras vivid storytelling highlights shifts and tensions within chinese society on a human scale how did mounting foreign incursions and domestic crises pave the way for wei enbo a rural farmhand to become a wealthy merchant in the early 1900s why did women in the 1920s and 30s such as an orphaned girl named yang zhendao devote themselves so wholeheartedly to a patriarchal religious system what kinds of pressures induced church leaders in a meeting in the 1950s to agree that comrade stalin had saved many more people than jesus this book tells the striking but also familiar tale of the promise and peril attending the collective pursuit of the extraordinary how individuals within the true jesus church in china over the past century have sought to muster divine and human resources to transform their world the problem of translation has become increasingly central to critical reflections on modernity and its universalizing processes approaching translation as a symbolic and material exchange among peoples and civilizations and not as a purely linguistic or literary matter the essays in tokens of exchange focus on china and its interactions with the west to historicize an economy of translation rejecting the familiar regional approach to non western societies contributors contend that national histories and world history must be read with absolute attention to the types of epistemological translatability that have been constructed among the various languages and cultures in modern times by studying the production and circulation of meaning as value in areas including history religion language law visual art music and pedagogy essays consider exchanges between jesuit and protestant missionaries and the chinese between the seventeenth and nineteenth centuries and focus on the interchanges occasioned by the spread of capitalism and imperialism concentrating on ideological reciprocity and nonreciprocity in science medicine and cultural pathologies contributors also posit that such exchanges often lead to racialized and essentialized ideas about culture sexuality and nation the collection turns to the role of language itself as a site of the universalization of knowledge in its contemplation of such processes as the invention of basic english and the global teaching of the english language by focusing on the moments wherein meaning value is exchanged in the translation from one language to another the essays highlight the circulation of the global in the local as they address the role played by historical translation in the universalizing processes encountering china addresses the responses of early modern travelers to china who awed by the wealth and sophistication of the society they encountered attempted primarily to build bridges to explore similarities and to emulate the chinese though they were also critical of some local traditions and practices contributors engage critically with travelogues treating them not just as occasional sources of historical information but as primary literary texts deeply revelatory of the world they describe contributors reach back to the earliest european writings available on china in an effort to broaden and nuance our understanding of european contact with the middle kingdom in the early modern period while the primary focus of these essays is the external gaze european sources about china contributors also tease out aspects of the chinese world view of the time thus generating a conversation between chinese literary and historical texts and european ones
